

Set the Date of the End of the World.

I invite all human beings to eliminate Money completely throughout the world at once, giving rise to Paradise, as explained on the reference website. For this, just agree on a Date.

To take into account that the one who wins would be God, no matter what cause she or he defends or if he or she cheats to achieve victory. Consequently, do not expect a Leader because that Leader would end up being God, even if he or she did not pretend to be.

It only remains for someone with informative capacity to set the Date of the End of the World, perhaps 15 days or a month after such setting, so that those who have not yet received the Message have time to be informed, and do not give time for problems to arise and/or complications due to doubts or indecision. Things may have to get really bad for this to happen. I hope we are on time. In the meantime, keep forwarding the Message as long as you can to increase the chance of it happening, and as soon as possible.

Once this Date arrives, the Money will be without value or use. When it is seen that everything works, we will all go, little by little, doing a job to our entire satisfaction, or stop working. In the beginning, everyone who has a useful job will continue to do it even if it is not to their liking, and will offer their product without asking or expecting or accepting any reward, except the expression “thank you”. Whoever does not have a job or it is not useful, will join a useful job even if it is not to their liking and does not satisfy them. Then everyone what they prefer. In this way there will be no collapse or shortage.

Once Paradise is established, people may starve to death at times, but it will be avoided as much as possible and will not lead to wars. Who knows what situations may occur? Meteorites, floods...?

Find out with art and humor on the reference website.

Happy Paradise everyone.
