

Test to share.

Here's the plain text so you can easily adapt it to any option. If you send it by email, give it different titles and include a varied header, like "...we publicize this...", and send 4 or 5 address per message. That way you'll circumvent the criminal and suicidal censorship that's so widespread now.

However, I suspect your fear is of happiness, of glory, of the immensity of existing. There have been opportunities, both personal and historical, and you have rejected them. You are submitting to the humiliation of authority until death, losing existence. Eliminate money across the entire planet at once, entering into freedom (regarding authority). Global direct democracy, chaotic, without a presidency. Death is nothingness, not having born, fainting, or general anesthesia. Not even time. Inconceivable. There is no possibility. And we all know it at 3 years old. You do not accept death because the eternal of you is your cowardice. You swore to yourself that you would not yield for all eternity, except to authority by making it your own. You're provoking them to kill you and, while we achieve it, god-given life, until only one remains. Stolen existence instead of accepted or rejected, using the almightism of death. The struggle of god, the winner, the great coward. Suicidal humanity, corpse worshipped by corpses humiliated to death by the authority. You cannot die without resolving this. Death in life, infinite catastrophe, just glimpsing it fills you with basic terror. Nazi horror you need to see. You awaited the end of the world, alive or dead, so that humanity would not remain in eternal cowardice. You bet that this would never be said. Freedom at nuevaera dot info. Existence will not judge you.